

DEMOCRATIC MEETING.

Pursuant to previous notice, a large and respectable number of Democrats from the townships of Bloomingville, Butler, Franklin and Plymouth, met in the School House in the village of Rome, on the evening of the 11th inst.

The session, JOHN STEVENSON, Esq., was appointed Chairman, and JAS. HUNTER, Sec'y. The Chairman then briefly stated the object of the meeting.

On motion the following committee was appointed to draft resolutions expressive of the sense of the meeting, viz: T. J. North, Daniel Brewer, A. S. Chew, O. J. Rasmel, Joseph Hunter, Dr. M. Starr, Isaac Crowl, G. A. Allen, Wm. Cleland, and Peter Snapp, Robert Starr.

The Committee then retired, and during their absence the meeting was addressed by Dr. Allen, W. H. Shupe, Esq., and John Stevenson. The Committee then returned and reported the following resolutions which were unanimously adopted:

Whereas, There exists a controversy between the Editor of the Shield and Banner, and a large portion of the Democracy of Richmond County, in relation to his course as an Editor, be it therefore

Resolved, That in his Editorial reply to the Resolutions passed at the Rome Meeting, on the 21st of Nov., he has shown an utter disregard of truth, by denying that he has attempted to stifle public opinion by leading Editors in reply to certain communications, which can be proved.

Resolved, That the charges set forth in the 6th Resolution are virtually true, from the fact that John Y. Gleasoner attributed the defeat of Geo. Weaver to the spurious tickets the Widgals had put in circulation, which no one could construe in any other way than that set forth in the Resolution.

Resolved, That John Y. Gleasoner falsifies when he asserts that he did not take sides on a question in which there was a difference of opinion in our ranks. The columns of his own paper will too plainly show that his supposition on the fifth resolution, in the last number of the Shield and Banner is a bare falsehood.

Resolved, That John Y. Gleasoner, in stating that his columns were closed against Geo. Weaver, and his friends in the North, expresses out the principles of which he is accused in the 3d Resolution of the meeting held in Rome, the 21st inst., and that he did utter such language can be proved.

Resolved, That when a communication is offered to a Democratic Editor, it does not necessarily follow that he must consult Judge Myers, S. J. Kinkaid or B. Burns to see whether it would be right.

Resolved, That on the 3d Resolution of the meeting of the 21st inst., Geo. Gleasoner stirred the bile of the Democratic Editor of Richmond County, that the proceedings of this meeting may help him discharge the balance of his affected liver and restore him to health, without a visit to the seashore.

Resolved, That we have been credibly informed, and believe, that the counterfeited tickets which the dumb Democrats voted, and thereby defeated Geo. Weaver, were got up and printed by self-styled Democrats, in the Shield and Banner office.

Resolved, That John Y. Gleasoner, in attempting to settle the responsibility of the Rome meeting upon a "Trio," is a direct insult to Messrs. Starr and Chew, and fully confirms our opinion, that "broad and better" is the leading principle that actuates the matter.

Resolved, That the Shield and Banner, as a paper, is not less than ten years behind the spirit of the age, and the Democracy it tries to represent.

Resolved, That we fully endorse and reiterate the sentiments expressed at the meeting on the 21st inst., held in Rome, for the purpose of taking into consideration the course of John Y. Gleasoner, as a Democratic Editor.

On motion of T. J. North, a committee of five was appointed as a Vigilance Committee. On motion

Resolved, That the proceedings of this meeting be published in the Plymouth Advertiser. JOHN STEVENSON, Chm. JAMES HUNTER, Sec'y.

ARRIVAL OF THE FRANKLIN.

THREE DAYS LATER.

BREADSTUFFS FURTHER ADVANCED!

EASTERN QUESTION STILL UNDECIDED!

New York, Nov. 10—4 P. M. The Franklin brings 162 passengers, and has dates to the 26th ult. Nothing decisive on the Eastern question.

A telegraph dispatch from Constantinople dated Oct. 17th, announces that the combined fleet had passed the Dardanelles, and would proceed to Constantinople. No other event had occurred since the previous account.

The army of Asia was every day receiving fresh recruits. Omar Pacha was directing the works, and was preparing to cross the Danube. The bridge between the frontier of Widdien and the Islands opposite was already occupied by the Turks. The Russians were mustering in great force opposite Widdien.

It was rumored at Paris that the text of a new Russian manifesto had reached that city, which contained some things very insulting to France, characterizing her as a hot-bed of revolutions. One of the expressions is as follows: "My rights I will defend, as well as the rights of my co-religionists, against all foreign interference whatever. I shall not stand alone."

A letter from St. Petersburg, on the 14th, says the news of declaration of war by the Porte had produced a powerful sensation in the North of Europe. The army and the civil service were for war, but in the South they were pacific. No warlike enthusiasm was apparent anywhere, although various means had been taken to produce it. Notwithstanding these unfavorable symptoms, public opinion both in Paris and London believe that the resources of diplomatic powers were not all exhausted, and that war may yet be averted. The Russians were settled in their winter quarters at Bucharest.

The navigation of the Danube is said to be closed. The English merchants at St. Petersburg had been assured by the Emperor through his Minister of Finance, that their property and possessions would be protected, and that there was no risk of ships or property during the present season.

It is rumored that the Emperor of France had recalled the Minister at Naples on account of some fancied indignity. The accounts of harvest and vintage are as reported before.

Dates from the Cape of Good Hope were to Sept. 23d. The overland mail had arrived at Trieste with dates from Hong Kong. The revolution was progressing in China. The Imperialists had had some success at Amoy. The whole country was in a state of excitement, and trade was suspended. A French squadron was collecting at Desoa to redress some fancied grievances. The London Sun states that there is a rumor that the Emperor and Empress of the French would visit London in November, and that preparations were being made in official quarters for their reception. The statement is not reliable.

LIVERPOOL MARKET. Oct. 25.—Wheat in extensive demand at 6d. per 70 lbs advance on all good qualities, compared with that day week. Flour did not participate to the full extent of the advance, but the quotations show a rise of 2s 4d on the prices of the 15th.

The steamer Star of the West from San Juan arrived at midnight. She brings 600 passengers, $130,000 on freight and $500,000 in hands of passengers.

NEW YORK ELECTION. We are unable to obtain any reliable returns from this State, but the opinion is general that the Whigs have elected their State ticket, and a majority of the Legislature.
